Master Online Study Program Advanced Oncology

Countdown 6 weeks to application deadline

A worldwide unique post-graduate study program preparing for leadership tasks in oncology

Dear colleagues,

Growing Global Demand

There is a growing global demand for academic continuing education of oncologists - besides extensive clinical skills in various fields of oncology - aspects of patient management, standardization of treatment procedures as well as expertise in the performance of clinical trials and cooperation with the industry.

Main Objective

The main objective is to improve the quality of patient treatment and care through the development of professional competencies and excellence. In order to attain this progress, we cooperate with health professionals and health care institutions worldwide and promote health care capacities by sharing scientific knowledge, methods and skills.

Global Core Curriculum

With respect to the recommendations for a Global Core Curriculum stated by the European Society for Medical Oncology (ESMO) and the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) we are providing an intellectual environment for acquisition of knowledge, skills, clinical judgment, and attitudes essential for the practice of medical oncology.

The third enrollment phase of the study program will start in October 2012 with the beginning of the winter semester. Application deadline is April 15, 2012. Please complete the "Application Form" at www.masteroncology.de <<http://www.masteroncology.de>> and submit it by email to masteroncology@uni-ulm.de <<mailto:masteroncology@uni-ulm.de>> together with the following documents:

- * Bachelor's degree in Medicine or in Natural Sciences
- * Proof of one year of professional experience in hematology/oncology (for natural scientists: two years)

- * Proof of a sufficient command of the English language (e.g. TOEFL, IELTS or work experience in an English-speaking country)
- * Letter of Motivation
- * Curriculum Vitae
